CHUN DUCK SOON IN TOILS? NOT YET BUT SOON: MAYBE

Chun Duck Soon, J. B. is expected to be caught before another night passes. Chief of Detectives McDuffie has taken an active part in the hunt for the jailbreaker and is keeping a sharp watch on the leading hotels and clubs and other places where the sons of the helplessly rich congregate. The police have secured by this time an abundance of clues which, though impeding their pursuit of the fugitive Korean, have furnished them with many excellent motor rides.

The fact that the clues so far obtained have failed to bring about the capture of Soon has not discouraged the police. But, on the other hand, it has been rather trying on the fugitive himself. Being a true sportsman, he longs for opponents if not worthy of his steel at least worthy of his hunt.

No question has been raised as to where the Korean is. Positive information has been received that he is now camped at Koko Head, Kalihi, Waikiki, Kahuku, Manoa, Ewa, Pearl Harbor and Haleiwa; and expects to remain there indefinitely—a tenure to be determined by the weather. For Chun Duck Soon, as his middle name connotes, likes wet weather.

He has a natural longing to be in wet weather. One reason for his repeated jail breaks is said to be due to the fact that the prison was more or less rain-proof. Though this reason may have had something to do with it, it is hardly likely that for rain alone did Chun outwit the jail-guards and jump the wall. The Korean, says the secret, has wanderlust and was driven by it out from his cell and prison bounds.

It is known that he fought the wanderlust manfully. He tried to do all he could to stifle it. He didn't wish to take an unfair advantage of the napping guards, or even the vigilant ones. In fine, he wanted to do the right thing by all concerned. But the wanderlust—it is all-powerful. One time, alas the time!—one time he offered to give up his trade as jail-breaker, and show noble consideration for his keepers; he agreed to break from his cell no more if they would only make him a trusty! But they didn't. They didn't understand the genius of Chun Duck Soon, and its requirements. With rain and a place to wander in, he would have been happy, no doubt, and lived to a ripe old age.

But just as a teacher misunderstands her mischievous pupil, so the jail authorities misunderstood Chun. Certainly, they regret it now, and see the error of their ways, but it is too late. The Korean is angered because they would not make him a trusty, and so he is not going to let McDuffie catch him. The police officials, not realizing this, state that the fugitive will be a prisoner within a few hours. In the meantime, McDuffie is off for a little jaunt to China to care for the wants in transit of Carlos Roberto Sanchez, the prisoner who is being returned to Shanghai. It may be that McDuffie, as he is sailing across the Pacific, will get an idea regarding how he can capture Chun; but then again—but then again—he may not.

A man is all right in his way as long as he keeps out of your way.

Rexall Ad-Vantage No. 1

IF YOU KNEW— Of the months, and oftentimes years, devoted to painstaking, conscientious testing and proving by actual use of every formula for any Rexall Toilet Preparation before that formula was finally adopted as worthy; Of the exact, earnest care used in selecting each ingredient, and the rigid testing for purity and strength before it could become a part of the preparation; Of the guarantee on each Rexall Toilet preparation that, if it does not give satisfaction in every way, "we want you to go back to the store where you bought it and get your money; it belongs to you and we want you to have it"; and,

IF YOU SAW— The sanitary, airy, sun-lighted, shiningly-clean laboratories in which Rexall Toilet preparations are made; the white-capped, white-aproned, wholesomely-clean young women who put them up; and,

IF YOU REALIZED— That the cooperation in buying, manufacturing and selling of more than 7000 Rexall Stores—one leading drug store in each important city and town in the United States, Canada and Great Britain—makes it possible to reduce to a minimum the cost to you of the finished product.

Then You Would Believe That It Is An Advantage For You To Buy

NEED A JACK?

Here are Five Types:

BELL-BASE SCREW JACKS—4 to 50 ton capacity; much better than the ordinary jack screws. Base forms reservoir for holding oil and protects screw from dust and dirt.

FULL AUTOMATIC JACK—Notch by notch; 4 to 15 tons.

AUTOMOBILE JACKS—weigh only 11 pounds; safety stop; 1 to 4 tons.

TELESCOPING MOTOR TRUCK JACKS—mainly for general garage use; built to take short strokes; 3 tons capacity only. Very handy.
